■ BY GARETH ARNOLD

ILLEGAL street traders flooding in from other parts of the county may soon have a fight on their hands as council chiefs pursue a new bill to expel them from the city.

Council officers are concerned about unregulated pedlars blocking rights of way, and offering what they deem to be unsuitable goods and services such as henna tattooing, stink bombs and silly string. At present, prosecuting illegal street traders is both expensive and difficult.

Both Medway and Maidstone introduced legislation known as the Medway Act in 2005, which gives the local authorities tough new powers to confiscate and destroy goods offered by illegal street traders and issue on the spot fines.

Now city councillors are looking to bring in a similar law.

It will also close the legal loophole which allows otherwise illegal street merchants to operate under a pedlars' licence.

Commercial health manager Roger Vick said: "They sell a load of junk, and of course the public has no comeback if things go wrong."

"It annoys the licensed traders and shopkeepers who pay a premium, because these people come to the prime sites and just disappear again."

The pedlars' licence is intended for people operating cold-calling businesses, but for a number of years it has been widely used by people selling goods in the street. New rules would prevent this, requiring sellers to go from door to door, instead of setting up temporary stalls in the street.

Mr Vick said: "Very often, surveillance has to take place over a few hours, and it can take quite a few months before a case can be taken to

City part of 21st century digital diary

■ BY NICK AMES

A 'DIGITAL Domesday Book' has been launched to chronicle the greatest architectural treasures of England.

It includes Canterbury Cathedral, the town's ruined castle, the city walls and other prominent buildings in the city itself, plus Herne Bay and along the seafront at Whitstable.

But one of its most unusual choices is two red telephone boxes in the shadow of the Westgate Towers.

The project by English Heritage has taken seven years to complete and cost a total of £7.4 million.

A total of 315,000 images are now online and available at the website: www.imagesofengland.org.uk.

Beautiful stately homes and imposing castles are included alongside the more commonplace – lamp posts, railway stations, telephone kiosks and bus shelters.

Simon Thurley, chief executive of English Heritage, said: "The intention was to capture forever a snapshot of how England looks at the start of the 21st century."

"It's a Domesday Book for our time, a digital history of England that captures at one moment what our society values in its history and its architecture."

"This is a unique record. With the gradual march of plastic windows, railings being removed and drives being Tarmacked future generations will be able to look back and see how England looked."

The images were taken by more than 2,200 volunteers nationwide. They used 13,000 rolls of 35mm film and travelled 1.4 million miles to obtain the images.

One photographer, Lorna Freeman, took pictures in England's 42 officially designated counties and has 2,453

SNAPSHOT: The Westgate Towers have been photographed as part of the £74m project different shots used. Most prominent pictures across the site are of churches, which total 7,484. Next are bridges with 6,283.

Rarest are two penguin pools and one pigeon loft.

The site should appeal to many different people, according to English Heritage. It is intended for scholars to examine the historical significance of buildings shown, architects and engineers to study techniques and tourists to view place they intend to visit.

A spokesman for English Heritage said: "We hope this project will be of great interest to a wide number of people. Tourists can use it to search for all the listed buildings in a particular parish, village or town if they are planning to visit, while locals will be able to check out buildings closer to home."

"Meanwhile, serious scholars can use the findings to look up all the buildings by a particular architect or engineer."

Lack of prosecutions are a real sore point

magistrates' court. In recent cases, the fine has been as low as a few hundred pounds, which the traders view as rent."

Up to 10 illegal traders often operate between the Parade and Guildhall Street, a sore point for shopkeepers who say the street sellers are bad for business, blocking the pavement and preventing potential customers from going in.

Yet only six illegal traders have been prosecuted in the last two years, with a further 17 receiving cautions.

The cost of the legislation is estimated at around £45,000-85,000, but council officers hope this could be minimised by using the same model as Medway.

The council will vote on the measure tomorrow evening, and if it is passed, a Bill will be drawn up which will go before Parliament in November. When Medway's equivalent act went before Parliament in 2004, it received unopposed readings in both the Commons and the Lords.

If Canterbury's version enjoys similar luck, the new act could be in force as early as next summer.

MP asks: Are we ready for a terror attack?

Call to review emergency plans

JULIAN Brazier says city chiefs need to stage more large terrorist emergency drills to ensure vital emergency services could cope with an attack.

The Canterbury and district MP says although the local authority has plans in place to respond to an attack, he believes there should be regular 'dry-runs' to see how the services work together.

He said: "We need to be doing more rehearsals. Canterbury itself, I know, has an emergency plan, but what I think the Government needs to encourage is full emergency runs to see how everyone works together."

The Territorial Army was meant to be taking a lead on this, but they are so stretched at the moment due to the conflict in the Middle East.

"I think Kent is the second or third most obvious target for an attack after London. We have got the largest port, we have the Channel Tunnel and there are barracks all over the county, including one here in Canterbury.

"I think there is a threat, but we don't cope with a threat by worrying about it."

He suggested hiring a team of volunteers to act as the injured and to do it sooner rather than later.

Mr Brazier said: "The emergency services had exercises on the London Underground shortly before the bombings on July 7 and that helped them enormously."

A Canterbury council spokesman confirmed: "We have a detailed emergency plan, which covers a wide range of issues for dealing with a major incident.

"It covers everything from the roles and responsibilities of the council, and how we work with other agencies, to the setting up of rest centres and how we deal with the media.

"The council holds an emergency exercise once a year, using different scenarios, so we can test out the plan and make sure we are ready should a real emergency occur."

Mr Brazier is no stranger to increased security due to the additional measures in force around London and the Houses of Parliament.

He told Yourcanterbury: "You get used to having your car searched every time you go in and to the barriers surrounding Parliament, but I do look at it and wonder - has it really come to this?"

"Historians will look back at the invasion of Iraq as a mistake, but unless we have some very silly historians, I believe they will see that going into Afghanistan was something we had to do at the time."

The fully pedestrianised Guildhall Street and Palace Street has been transformed to offer safe, traffic-free shopping, complete with numerous cafés and restaurants for a continental-style experience.

A council spokesman said: "The Kings Mile is unique; it comprises Guildhall Street, Palace Street, The Borough, Northgate and surrounding roads.

"Of the area's 94 businesses, only three are not independently owned."

Events run from 9am to 10.30pm.

Killer Stone tries for new appeal

■ BY NICK AMES

THE CRIMINAL Cases Review Commission (CCRC) has confirmed it is to look again at the case of Michael Stone – the double-killer serving a life sentence for the brutal hammer murders of Lin and Megan Russell.

Stone, 46, and his legal team say they have new evidence which could challenge his conviction and force a new appeal to be granted.

Details of the new evidence has not yet been revealed.

Stone was convicted in 1998 of the murders of mother Lin, 45, and her daughter Megan, 6, in 1996. Josie Russell, then 9, miraculously survived the attacks.

The family dog was also killed during the savage assaults as the family strolled back through countryside in Chilenden, near Canterbury.

Mrs Russell had been walking her children home after picking them up from the nearby Goodnestone Primary School following a swimming gala.

The brutality of their murders, and little Josie's remarkable recovery, captivated the nation.

Now 20, Josie and her father Dr Shaun Russell, a university lecturer, live in Wales.

Just three years after Stone's initial conviction, it was quashed by the Court of Appeal and his case ordered for a retrial.

Once again, a jury found him guilty of the murders of Lin and Megan and the attempted murder of Josie.

A second appeal in 2005 was rejected.

Paul Bacon, solicitor for Stone, spent all Monday in a meeting with the CCRC over the case.

He said: "The CCRC are actively re-investigating his case."

"Taking into account the advances in DNA technology, they will look at all aspects of the case."

A spokesman for the CCRC confirmed the case file has been allocated to a case review manager, but warned any decision could take months or even years.

It's not cold enough for snow, but wrap up warm

WE ARE heading for a mild winter according to long-range weather forecasters who say snow is not looking likely.

Last year's winter was the second warmest on record and although the coming months will most likely be colder than that, temperatures will still not plummet.

Experts this week studied records which show long periods of snow resulting in freeze-ups are becoming rarer.

The winter weather is partially caused by current weather patterns over Iceland and the Azores.

Superstore denies 'double-puncture' claims

Tesco remove 'tyre busting' go-slow strip

■ BY GARETH ARNOLD

TESCO has removed a broken rubber speed strip at its supermarket in Whitstable after Yourcanterbury highlighted a customer's claim it had punctured his car tyres on two separate occasions.

Salvatore Massaro, who runs the popular Giovanni's restaurant in Canterbury Road contacted us last week to say he blamed a broken strip at the Millstrood Road store for damaging his Jaguar.

He says a section had snapped off leaving sharp, exposed edges capable of slicing through the tyre's rubber. He picked up two punctures on consecutive nights in August. Despite his complaints, the store denies the strip was responsible.

Just days after we brought it to the store's attention, it was removed.

The morning after the first problem Mr

Massaro says he took his car to Kwik Fit, who told him it was not a normal puncture, but a slash across the inside wall of the tyre. The damage was irreparable, and Mr Massaro paid for a replacement.

The night after, he went to Tesco again, and the same thing happened. Mr Massaro returned to Kwik Fit.

Mr Massaro said: "I told them about the journey I'd done both nights, and they said they had seen other cars with similarly damaged tyres after visits to Tesco."

Mr Massaro took photos of the broken speed strip and the torn tyres, and presented them to customer service staff. Days later he received a letter, telling him his tyres had been punctured by broken glass.

Despite two weeks of wrangling with the supermarket giant, they refused to admit the damage had been caused by the strips.

BROKEN: Above, the damaged speed strip has now been removed; below, X marks one of the punctures

He said: "What really annoyed me was they made it seem as if I was pulling a fast one."

Now though, Tesco chiefs have taken up the strip.

A Tesco spokesman said: "We realise the strip was faulty, and it has been taken up and removed for repair or replacement. We apologise for any inconvenience caused."

The firm said Mr Massaro's case was still being dealt with through "the normal channels".

Tune in for a crisp bite of Jazz

JAZZ apples hit all the right notes with Masterchef presenter Gregg Wallace after he tasted the new variety at an orchard near Bridge.

The famous foodie, who lives nearby, visited Mansfield Farm for the official launch of the Jazz apple, which has found its way here from New Zealand.

Mr Wallace said: "I got involved with Jazz apples because they are being grown in Kent, and I've got a house near Seasalter."

"The apple itself is beautifully crisp, beautifully juicy, and with a wonderful, wonderful aroma. It's great to have large scale apple production in Kent again."

UK growers have invested £5 million in the new fruit and it is hoped the crop will be worth £25 million in just four years time.

The Orchards at Mansfield's account for a quarter of the 210,000 Jazz trees in England, and the variety represents a massive investment for the firm.

Mansfield's commercial manager Gary Harrison said: "Jazz is a variety that needs sunshine and the right kind of soil in which to flourish. It is always a relief at harvest time to know the crop is safe, in spite of hail damage from the many unusual storms this summer."

BEAVERING AWAY: Rodents will get their new home thanks to concrete mixer donations to Wildwood

Generous public helps our wildlife

A PROJECT to bring beavers to a leading wildlife park is back on track thanks to the generosity of the public.

Two weeks ago a concrete mixer was stolen from Wildwood, in Herne Common, near Herne Bay, delaying building work on a new enclosure to house the large rodents, which must be kept under strict quarantine.

But when the theft was reported, the public rallied round and Wildwood office staff received dozens of telephone calls offering the loans and donations of mixers from all over the county – among them Yourcanterbury readers who read our story highlighting their plight.

Grateful head ranger Chris Towner said: "The generosity of people is fantastic. We now have a number of mixers which will not only allow us to complete the beaver enclosure but we can also start other projects earlier than expected."

Dormice are also enjoying new homes created with help from the public. Wildwood also requested donations of natural rope, which forms perfect bedding material for the endangered mice.

Conservation officer Hazel Ryan said: "The dormice have been creating their nests with the rope. The donations have been invaluable as they prepare for hibernation."

■ BY GARETH ARNOLD

But it is not just mammals that are prospering in the park. The Common Lizards at Wildwood have given birth to a number of tiny babies, each just 2cm long.

The baby lizards are very late in the season but the keepers at Wildwood had been expecting to see them for some time as the females had been very large, a sure sign they were ready to give birth.

Keeper Cali Bebbington said: "The baby lizards are very small so they are difficult to notice, and we have to make sure the parents get lots of food so they are not eaten, unfortunately lizards are not particularly maternal."

Common Lizards, despite their name, are becoming increasingly rare in Britain, although they are found in other parts of Europe and Asia. The lizards, which are extremely fast and agile, can grow to 15cm and are protected.

For more information visit the park's website at www.wildwoodtrust.org.

You can volunteer for the Samaritans and save lives

GOOD listeners are needed to man the phones at Canterbury's Samaritans branch which is desperately short staffed.

The Samaritans provide confidential, non-judgmental support for people going through a crisis, including those contemplating suicide, and the service often saves lives.

But the Canterbury centre currently has just 64 volunteers, and desperately needs more to continue providing the vital round-the-clock resource that has made the charity famous.

Volunteers of all ages are welcome says Samaritan of 24 years, Ann Rigby, 60: "Our Samaritans range from teenagers right up to pensioners.

"Most people say they learn a lot about themselves during the extensive training, too."

Volunteers are asked to do a total of 12 hours duty a month, plus one overnight shift from 10pm to 7am. This can be split into two half nights from 10pm to 2am if necessary.

Call 08457 909090 and ask for the Canterbury branch, or log-on to its website at www.samaritans.org.

Even more places to get your favourite tipple

IF YOU enjoy a pint of Whitstable Bay, you'll be pleased to hear the ale is now stocked in more shops than ever before.

Brewed by Shepherd Neame, the organic beer was previously only available in a limited number of stores.

But a national listing in Tesco and a spell as one of Sainsbury's summer guest ales has expanded its reach. It is already available in Asda, Londis and Majestic Wines.

Shepherd Neame sales and marketing director Graeme Craig said: "It is arguably the beer with the broadest appeal."

Road show is a healthy way for you to learn

GET answers to your questions about local health services at a road show this week.

It gives people the chance to quiz Eastern and Coastal Kent Primary Care Trust chief executive Ann Sutton and her management team about local NHS policies and practices.

The event will begin with demonstrations of new technology, and the chance to chat informally with some of the NHS staff who will be using it.

Later people can question a panel of experts on local healthcare and its future.

It takes place at Westgate Hall, Canterbury on Thursday, between 3pm and 6pm.

Clean food ratings to highlight poor hygiene

CUSTOMERS can see exactly how hygienic a restaurant or food shop is following the introduction of the score on the doors system on Monday.

The legislation rates restaurants, takeaways, supermarkets and cafés from one to five, depending on how they adhere to food safety standards. By law, the resulting score will be displayed on the window for all to see.

According to the council's website, five stars means "very high standards of food safety management, fully compliant with food safety legislation".

In premises with no stars, there is "a general failure to comply with legal requirements" and "little or no appreciation of food safety".

Undergraduates among most satisfied in the UK

THE UNIVERSITY of Kent is among the top 10 institutions for undergraduate satisfaction according to a poll released this month.

The National Student Survey, organised by the Higher Education Funding Council, asked students to rate five categories including teaching, resources, academic support, management and personal development.

Eighty-nine per cent of Kent's final year undergraduates said they are "overwhelmingly satisfied" with the quality of their courses.

Senior deputy vice-chancellor David Nightingale said: "We are pleased to see our students feel they have made the right choice in coming to Kent."

QUESTION & ANSWER

ALI WHEELER

Q&A

She's the person thousands of us wake up to. Now Invicta FM breakfast show co-presenter Ali Wheeler talks to Chris Britcher about her life, work and the perceived glamour of working in radio

Q It's the question everyone must ask you, but how early do you have to wake up to do your show, and how early do you have to go to bed?

A It is at 4.25am my alarm goes off. I then snooze until about 4.40am and haul myself out of my pit and crawl into the shower. But I think even if I got up at 7am it would still feel horrid. Getting up sucks in general.

Because we have to be on top of what our listeners are watching, I do find myself watching a lot of evening telly. My husband Haydn commutes to London everyday and doesn't get home until 8.30pm so unless I stay up until about 10.30pm I feel like we're just ships that pass in the night. But I do get a few siestas throughout the week... which I love.

Q How did you get the job at Invicta - and what jobs had you done prior to joining?

A I sent a demo in to the boss and they got me down for an audition. James and I seemed to hit it off. The rest is history.

I hadn't really worked in radio before Invicta, apart from a six-month stint on traffic and travel at Essex FM, and a couple of months on a digital station. Before then I was working in music PR as a 'plugger'.

I was a promo girl for a while working with companies like Audi, Daewoo, and Marks & Spencer. I did voiceovers here and there, and a bit of modelling for Boden and Laura Ashley for a while (when I was much slimmer!). I was a waitress in a café in west London and worked for a theatre-in-education company performing anti-drugs, anti-smoking and sexual health awareness shows, so a pretty varied CV.

Q You have a good radio chemistry with James Heming - do you get on as well off-mic as it appears you do on it?

A It's obviously a cliché...but yes we do! I don't think I could work that closely with somebody I didn't truly like. At 5am you're bloomin' sensitive, and if we didn't click with each other, coming to work would be foul. It's not like normal work relationships - you are working ridiculously closely with each other, and being friends makes that easier. However, we do have our moments but you get over it, because we have a lot of respect for each other.

Q You live in Faversham - what attracted you to the town and were you tempted to live elsewhere?

A When we were house hunting the criteria was a short drive to work for me, and good train line into London for Haydn. As soon as we first drove through Faversham we fell in love with it. Finding our place on the creek was a dream come true. There's no shortage of amazing places to live in Kent.

Q When you get a chance to unwind where in the county do you like to go and what do you like to do?

A We love Tankerton Slopes, Mt Ephraim gardens for a picnic, along the creek for a stroll up to Oare and around there.

Canterbury is a firm favourite for shopping, or Whitstable if I just want a little browse.

Q What do you believe makes for a good DJ? And who on radio inspired you before you got into the business?

A I think it's really important to be yourself. If you're not 'you' on the air it just makes the job difficult, and the listeners see through it. I loved Christian O'Connell's Breakfast show on XFM because it sounded so effortless, the team had great chemistry and it made me smile.

Q Is working in radio as glamorous as the public perception?

A Nothing is! We get to meet some really interesting people, and do some really fun things. However, it's a very competitive industry with pressures to keep getting bigger audience figures, bosses to keep happy, and you have to keep evolving and delivering relevant and compelling radio every day. There's this myth that all breakfast DJs go home at 10am, I wish that was the case.

Q Who is the most famous person you have interviewed and what were they like?

A It was Kevin Spacey and I walked into the studio tripped over a load of wires and practically fell on top of him!

He was lovely about it, and we had a great chat.

New hope for HIV infected

EXCLUSIVE

■ BY NICK AMES

A HUGE medical breakthrough which could save the lives of millions of people cursed by AIDS has come from a team of scientists based at Pfizer.

They have spent 10 years developing a new class of HIV treatment which helps people who have developed a resistance to currently available drugs.

Maraviroc has already been approved for marketing to the US Food and Drug Agency, which regulates treatment across America.

Now bosses at the Sandwich plant, which employs around 3,500 people, expect the European Union to follow suit by granting approval later this year.

Then the drug will be available to UK patients under the name Cellsentri.

John LaMattina, president, Pfizer Global

Research and Development said: "There is a profound global need for new medicines to help HIV/AIDS patients."

"We expect [drugs] like Maraviroc will become critically important new treatment options for patients who are resistant or intolerant to their current HIV/AIDS therapies."

Pfizer emphasised the treatment is not yet available in the UK, but a spokeswoman said when it is "we shall certainly be letting people know".

She added: "This is the first of a new class of HIV medicines and it has taken a decade to perfect what is a great advance in medicine.

"It was discovered and developed by our

Kent team who have worked thousands of man hours on this project.

"Now we are awaiting the EU ruling. We have had very positive responses so far – so we expect it to be approved. We have got the green light in the USA – now it's Europe's turn."

Work on the drug started in 1997 when Pfizer researchers noted how certain people had an inherent resistance to HIV infection.

They discovered this was caused by a natural condition which blocked transfer of substances from blood cell to blood cell.

So they tried to reproduce the process artificially.

HIV drugs currently available fight the infection when it enters white blood cells from already infected areas.

So although a spread can be slowed down it is unlikely to be totally stopped, but Maraviroc blocks the disease from moving from diseased cells to others in the body – thus arresting its spread.

This process could save the lives of millions living with the condition and is a major step forward to fighting the leading cause of premature death in Africa.

BACKING: MP Julian Brazier

MP slams post office closures

CANTERBURY MP Julian Brazier has spoken out over proposals to slash the number of Post Offices in Kent.

Across the county, 59 offices face closure because they have been deemed to not make enough money.

A six-week public consultation period started on Tuesday, after which the final decisions on which ones will close will be made.

Mr Brazier said: "Losing both Northgate and St Dunstan's post offices would be a serious blow to those living or working in north Canterbury. This will be made worse as the main Canterbury Post Office is moving to the other end of the High Street in November.

"The Post Office must reconsider the impact of this on the local community.

"I well understand the need to bring the cost to the taxpayer of the Post Office under control, but the Government has worsened its position by steadily stripping it of business, most recently TV licences.

"Instead it should be encouraging the Post Office to find more business."

Mother fined for letting her teen sons get drunk

THE case of a mother who was fined £80 for buying beer for two of her teenage daughters has led to a police warning about "irresponsible parents" in Maidstone.

The two youngsters – aged 13 and 15 – were found by officers in a "heavily intoxicated" state near Mote Park, Maidstone.

They teenagers said the beer had been given to them by their mother, who later admitted buying it.

Police licensing officer Barbara Murray said: "Incidents like this will be regarded seriously and you could face a fine. This behaviour is completely irresponsible."

Poor communication the cause of train accident

A LACK of communication between inspection company InterRoute and rail operator Southeastern caused a train to hit an overhead inspection gantry, say accident inspectors.

The 21.57 train from Paddock Wood to Gillingham collided with the structure on February 5. The driver and sole passenger escaped with minor injuries.

A Rail Accident Investigation Branch spokesman said: "There had been a failure to communicate through the right channels. The line was not closed as it should have been."

Kelly strictly a ratings winner for dance show

BBC bosses are quietly betting that Kelly Brook will boost their ratings even further when the new series of Strictly Come Dancing begins this Saturday.

The TV presenter, who lives with Titanic star Billy Zane in Crafty Green, near Maidstone, is one of the star names in the new series of the talent show.

Strictly Come Dancing BBC1 is on Saturday at 6.15pm.

with Dr Christian Farthing
 at the Ideal Spine Centre, Canterbury

The Germ Theory

If your doctor has taught you that germs can be caught, your doctor should be the sickest person in the world.

The question is, can germs be spread?

Claude Bernard was a 19th century French physiologist and contemporary of French chemist Louis Pasteur. Louis Pasteur was the individual who was responsible for labelling "the germ theory", something that many people to date, still blindly believe in. The two famous doctors argued throughout their lives as to what really was the cause of disease, the soil or the seed. Pasteur insisted it was the seed (germ) while Bernard claimed it was the soil (the body). On Pasteur's death bed, it is said that he admitted that Bernard was right; he said, "it is the soil, not the seed."

If the germ theory of disease was correct, there would be no one living today to talk about it!

Although germs are certainly a factor involved in the diseases of man, the germ alone is not the cause of disease.

"It is in the soil, not the seed."

The cause of disease is within you. It is the lack of your body's ability to ward off disease. Health comes from within, and so, disease manifests from within you also.

Let me highlight this important principle with an example. One person can walk into a room full of people with a horrible cough and cold. Just ask yourself, why is it that only a few people out of the crowd actually develop the same cough and cold...everyone was exposed to it....?

The point is, you can either strengthen or weaken your immune system. Things that weaken your immune system are stress, alcohol, lack of sleep and nerve interference. Things that strengthen your immune system include having a diet rich in fresh fruit and vegetables, regular exercise, having your spine checked throughout life to make sure your nervous system is free of any interference (ie. vertebral subluxation), drinking from a clean water source and so on...

What soil are you creating for yourself and your family. If you know someone who is regularly suffering from colds, ear infections, chest infections or are generally run down, tell them to get a wellness check-up by a Wellness Doctor.

That is, someone who will not give you antibiotics, but sound advice to get you back on track without medication.

Start building a healthier immune system by strengthening your spine and nervous system. Better health comes from within you, not from a bottle of tablets.

If you want to get well and stay well, start questioning your doctor's recommendations. Then if you want you and your family to be the healthiest you can be, without medication, for life, go and see a Wellness Doctor.

During the month of October our family practice is providing free spine and posture health checks for families. The first 50 callers will also receive a copy of my most recent book to help understand the secrets to better health, naturally.

We look forward to helping you.

Each week we get a mystery writer to air their views on living in and around Canterbury...

Get involved when Brown fires the starting pistol

AS GORDON Brown and his cronies pour over the latest popularity polls and ponder whether to kick-start a General Election race more than two years before he has to, just what will it mean to those of us whose 'X' really does mark the spot?

When Tony Blair swept to a third term two years ago he did so amid as little public interest as I can remember.

Back in 1997 and the year Labour promised things could only get better, you could barely stroll down a street without a poster portraying the householder's political persuasion.

In fact, in one street in Whitstable there appeared to even be a battle between two neighbouring terraced homes to out 'poster' the other in a wave of blue and red.

With Julian Brazier returned and Mr Blair the new PM both, at least, were able to claim moral victories.

But just eight years on and at the last big trip to the polling booths, voter apathy was over-powering with only the candidates seemingly fussed about decorating their homes in the colour of their party.

Whether that is a good or a bad thing can be debated long into the night. Does it suggest people are generally happy with the way the country is run? Does it mean the opposition to the incumbent MP was not up to scratch?

You, as the Big Brother voice of democracy so often tells us, decide.

But certainly there was no sense of the battle between Left and Right which used to mean General Election night was such a fascinating and thrilling spectacle for those of us who cast our vote and then ushered in a Dimbleby brother or a Peter Snow to tell us if it had any effect.

All of which brings us back to the current will-he or won't he debate at Number Ten. Julian Brazier, regardless of your political leaning, seems unlikely to be quaking in his boots right now.

An inability by the Lib Dems and Labour to team up, and the area's traditional True Blue views, suggests there will be no change locally whenever Mr Brown decides to go to the polls.

And that in itself is a shame. A shame that the result already seems such a foregone conclusion. But it need not be.

So heed this warning while you still have the chance. Whatever colour of the rainbow your political party sports, make sure one way or another, this election is not another non-event.

Stick up a poster, discuss it in your local pub – at least that way, whoever wins locally and whoever wins nationally, you cannot be accused of not getting involved or making your voice heard.

TALK TIME

STEPHEN TURNER

Artist Stephen Turner – best-known for his stay two years ago on a derelict tower in the Shivering Sands off the coast of Herne Bay – discusses his work.

How long have you worked in the area?

I've been working in north Kent since 1984, and for a very long time I've had a studio at Chatham Dockyard.

I also owned a beach hut in Tankerton for a few years, which I used as a base to go on walks around the coast, down to Deal and Reculver and back up to Whitstable. It provided a studio location.

Tell us about your work in the area?

Probably the most memorable project I've done in the area is the 'grotta' project in Whitstable. It was based on a custom children had in the area in the 19th century.

On Saint James' day they would build grottas, small cairns made of oyster shells, outside pubs and other public buildings. They would then ask for money, much like penny for the guy.

In the 1970s, the oyster industry nearly died, and it disappeared with it. But now of course it's really well-known again, so I thought I'd see if I could resurrect some of the social traditions around the industry.

I made a large grotta and exhibited it in Whitstable. I worked with a number of local schools and the children wrote poems about oysters which I recorded.

These were then played from inside the grotta, but quietly, so you could only hear them if you were very close. They were about conservation and the need to protect the coast.

What attracts you to the district?

I'm from Yorkshire originally, but this is like my adopted home. People talk about quality of life, and it's definitely here, in the people, the society, the history, the geology. It sums up everything I believe about art.

YOUR LETTERS

Villages join forces to save rural bus service

BY GARTH ARNOLD

THE FIGHT is on to resurrect a vital rural bus service that has left hundreds of villagers without transport. The Royal Mail and its partner post bus operator, Stagecoach, are threatening to axe the service between Canterbury and the villages of Paddock Wood, Westgate-on-Sea and Avery Hill. But the campaign has rallied round to defend the service, with the Royal Mail and Stagecoach having failed to reach an agreement over fares and subsidies. The campaign has been led by Michael Stone, 50, of the Royal Mail, who has written to the Postmaster General, Frank Field, MP, and the Minister for Transport, Liam Byrne, to demand that the service be kept. "The campaign is the only one to call for the service to be kept," says Mr Stone. "It's a great service and we need it as a lifeline. If people have to travel further, they will have to pay more for their journeys. We are trying to get some sort of deal to keep the service."

GOLF Callaway

Why County Hall's fuss over rural bus?

I was surprised to read Kent County Council say it is short of funds to subsidise the rural bus service since it was axed by the Royal Mail – as highlighted in your paper last week.

KCC receives the third highest rural bus subsidy grant in England, to the tune of £2,223,254 for 2006/07 – does all this money go to operators of private bus companies?

Deportation rules beggar belief

The amount of undesirables entering the country from all over the world – and the inability of this Government to deport foreign criminals – makes the treatment of Hartley Alleyne even more unreasonable.

If the powers-that-be at the Home Office got off their fat backsides and went into the real world, they would see Mr Alleyne's contribution to this country, both past and present, far outweighs anything that can be expected of

Government should leave the man alone

I hang my head in shame that the Government wants to kick out Hartley Alleyne (above) – a good man who has entertained us and is prepared to work.

What must his children think? The Government must think again, and allow him to stay.

Role model being used as a scapegoat

THIS attempted deportation of a man who has given nearly 30 years to British sport is a disgrace.

Given the Government's recent idea of creating black male role models to combat black youths drifting into crime, the disgraceful manner in which the Home Office is behaving beggars belief.

Clearly Mr Alleyne's problem is that has been been completely upfront and done everything required of him, thus making himself an easily-traced target.

Common sense must prevail - surely?

I HOPE British officialdom has the wisdom and common sense to exercise flexibility in the interpretation of immigration law.

Mr Alleyne should, with good grace, be offered the choice to stay in this country indefinitely, or to return to his country of birth with his honour and dignity intact.

Having lived in Barbados for two years, I know which I would choose.

What's the fine for discarding used syringes? You've guessed it – zero!

Crazy, just crazy.

Jon Gardner
Canterbury via email

Punish drug users who drop needles

To illustrate the point I made in last week's letters, here is a picture of discarded syringes (above, right) which was taken in Hawks Lane, in the centre of Canterbury.

The neighbourhood police told me that homeless organisation the Scrine Foundation is giving out more and more syringes to drug users but don't follow up to collect them after they have been used.

Consequently, they end up discarded in the street like the ones in the picture.

There are stickers on city centre bins pointing out that dropping cigarette ends is a litter offence and you are liable to an £80 fine if caught.

The homeless need our help, not apathy

Canterbury's homeless have endured immeasurable hardship in their lives.

Domestic violence, sexual abuse, bereavement and family breakdown are the most common causes for their tragic circumstances. Most also suffer from some form of mental illness.

A number of these fragile people may never be able to recover from their experiences and will probably be begging for the rest of their lives, but that shouldn't deter passers-by from giving them money.

These unfortunate souls try to find ways of forgetting their traumatic pasts and self-medication is usually their chosen method.

Before people like Jon Gardner and Jane O'Connor (Letters, Yourcanterbury, September 26) express discontent about homeless people roaming the streets begging, drunk and on drugs, perhaps they should stop and consider why these individuals came to exist in such deprivation.

Connect in quest to understand dementia

New survey results published by YouGov have revealed a lack of public awareness about Alzheimer's disease and dementia.

Its findings give cause for concern, highlighting that the public has little awareness of dementia, and that most people assume memory loss is a natural part of ageing.

There are 750,000 people in the UK affected by Alzheimer's or dementia and this is expected to double by 2030.

Therefore, it is crucial that funding is made available for research that can increase our understanding of Alzheimer's disease and dementia.

Help the Aged research shows mental decline ranks as the UK's number one health concern associated with ageing, which is why it is working to raise funds for its project, the Disconnected Mind, which aims to uncover the causes of mental deterioration in later life and find ways to prevent them.

Donations can be made to the appeal on 020 7239 1982, or disconnected mind@helptheaged.org.uk.

Lee feels the bite in Iraq

Comic talks about his visit to the warzone, the tragic death of his father and being back on tour

LEE Hurst had a number of unusual experiences during his hazardous trip to Iraq, but one stands out above the rest.

While on a visit to entertain troops in the warzone last year, he was offered the chance to dress up in a protective suit and invite a large attack dog to chase him.

Hurst convulsed with laughter as he recalled being dragged into the dirt and shaken.

He said: "I started running off, but when this huge dog brought me down I just couldn't help laughing. I'm asthmatic and I'd forgotten my inhaler, so I was wheezing and choking on dust, but it was hilarious."

It was all a far cry from Hurst's days as a popular television personality, appearing as a regular panellist on the BBC show They Think It's All Over.

He left the show eight years ago after recording five series, to concentrate on his comedy club, The Backyard in Bethnal Green, east London.

His experiences on the circuit influenced the way in which the club is run, including a decision to ban smoking on health grounds a full five years before the Government did.

Hurst takes a hands-on approach, even to security. At least two unlucky punters have been physically ejected recently for talking during the show, though Hurst claims to have no self-defence training.

He said: "I didn't really think about what I would do if they lashed out. My fighting style these days tends to be curling into a ball and crying."

Hurst certainly revealed his fighting spirit when he hit the headlines last year following an apparent suicide threat.

Distressed by the treatment of his dying father at a hospital on the Isle of Sheppey, Hurst decided to exploit the media for his own ends.

Threatening to take an overdose of anti-inflammatory medication if his demands were not met, Hurst locked himself in his car and called a national newspaper.

He said: "I knew it would up the pressure on the NHS and force them to act. I never intended to hurt myself or anyone else, so I tipped the contents of all but one of the capsules into one of my dog's poo bags. Then I went off and there was a bit of a manhunt."

Police eventually apprehended him on a beach at Minster and he was taken for psychiatric tests before being released.

The experience did not tempt Hurst into political comedy, but he found talking about it on stage a useful way to come to terms with what had happened.

He said: "Putting it bluntly, my dad died on Wednesday and it was in the routine on Saturday night. I've told the story three times and that's it – it's over with."

Hurst has already begun his latest tour and claims not to be troubled by nerves, though he has experienced other problems.

"On the first night of the tour, I was running late and didn't have time to go to the loo before I went on stage," he revealed.

"I thought I wouldn't stay on that long, but I worked it into the act and it went really well. I don't have favourite themes, I just talk about anything that's funny. It's really just me mucking around."

Lee Hurst will be appearing at the Leas Cliff Hall in Folkestone at 8pm on Sunday, October 21. Tickets cost £16. To book, call the box office on 0870 4000 890.

Cathedral Nave, Canterbury

BEAUTIFUL and talented violinist Nicola Benedetti has been described as being "blessed by the gods".

She has been captivating audiences and critics with her music since she was named BBC's Young Musician of the Year in 2004, aged 16.

Her critically-acclaimed second album reached the number one spot in the BBC Music charts and became Classic FM's Disc of the Month.

Born in Scotland, Nicola began violin lessons at the age of five. In 1997, she entered the Yehudi Menuhin School and has been studying with Maciej Rakowski since leaving the school five years ago.

She has performed with acclaimed orchestras including the City of London Sinfonia, the Royal Scottish National and the Royal Philharmonic, and has appeared as a soloist a number of times.

Nicola won Carlton Television's Britain's Brilliant Prodigies in 2002 and recorded a solo on the soundtrack of Mattel's Barbie In Swan Lake DVD. Mattel then made a documentary about Nicola and her life with the violin.

Performing in the stunning cathedral setting, Nicola will give an intimate recital including works by Bach and Brahms, with Alison Rhind on piano.

TYphoon Live

Thursday, October 4
Gulbenkian Theatre, Canterbury

TWO plays by East Asian writers about falling in and out of love will be premiered in Canterbury this week.

Presented by award-winning Yellow Earth Theatre, Typhoon Live celebrates two new English language plays about that devil called love.

Getting Married by Yi Kang-Bae from Korea is a light-hearted, one-act play about the absurd beginnings of a love affair.

When a conman borrows a grand house for the weekend to impress a charming and innocent young woman, the household's butler intervenes to create a contest between love and honesty.

Yi Kang-Bae is one of Korea's most prominent dramatists and won the Daesan Award for Drama in 1996.

The savage but funny tale of a woman who prefers her dog to her husband is revealed in Dogs, by Singaporean writer Elangovan. An award-winning playwright, Elangovan has created a dark and foul-mouthed rollercoaster of disappointments and resentment, with a stunning ending.

The performance, which is suitable for over 14s, starts at 7.45pm. Tickets cost £12/£10 and are available online at www.gulbenkiantheatre.co.uk or by calling 01227 769075.

Tate's Iron Curtain call

■ BY EILEEN CONDON

YOU couldn't blame Catherine Tate for getting a little 'bovvered' at the mention of her trademark catchphrase.

The comedienne has probably had 'Am I bovvered?' quoted back at her more times than she cares to remember, but the gracious star insists she's grateful for the recognition.

"It's not like I'm bombarded. It's usually kids who say it to me," she said. "But that's great. If people don't know who you are, it means the show hasn't worked very well."

After making her name on the stand-up circuit she successfully moved into TV, appearing in programmes like Big Train and Wild West, before landing her own Bafta-nominated show.

Earlier this year she made a guest appearance on Doctor Who and was such a hit she's set to return as his regular sidekick.

But for now the multi-talented actress is revealing a very different side.

In her latest movie, Mrs Ratcliffe's Revolution – released last Friday – she takes centre stage and this time she's not playing it for laughs. Far from being daunted, the 39-year-old star says she was more than up for the challenge.

"This script really did grab me," she said. "I thought it was brilliant as soon as I read it."

Set in the early 60s when the Iron Curtain descended, the film tells the true story of Dorothy Ratcliffe (played by Tate) who, along with her husband Frank (Iain Glen) and their two daughters, defect from their home in Bingley, Yorkshire to East Germany to live the communist dream.

However, their hope of a simple life with socialist principles quickly turns into a nightmare as an increasingly unhappy Dorothy desperately tries to keep her family together.

"She becomes the pivot for the family," Catherine said of her character.

"She's resolutely cheerful and the kind of woman who gets sidelined a bit, as I imagine quite a lot of women did in the 60s, and then she ends up this mini revolutionary."

Though her character's life couldn't be more different from her own, Catherine says she can relate to Mrs Ratcliffe, as she has also experienced life in the Eastern Bloc.

In 1991 she lived as an exchange student in Russia during the military coup.

"It was a very strange sensation. I was living with a family and the father and son would go out and protest at the barricades and for 48 hours we didn't hear from them. It was very frightening to see a family traumatised and torn about where their menfolk were," she said.

NOT BOVVERED: Catherine Tate was more than happy to take centre stage in the new film Mrs Ratcliffe's Revolution

Despite the austere nature of the movie Catherine says filming in Hungary proved to be a highlight.

"I was so surprised by how cosmopolitan and westernised it is. In my ignorance and naivety I thought, 'Oh I better take a lot of food with me,' and of course we didn't need to.

"It's such a beautiful country and the people were so lovely and so interested in what we were doing."

The actress, who was born and raised in London by her single parent mum, still lives in the capital, but Hollywood is beating a path to her door. She recently filmed Love And Other Disasters with American starlet Brittany Murphy and also appeared alongside Friends actor David Schwimmer in the hit stage play Some Girls.

However, the busy star says she has no plans to uproot to LA.

"It's a place I'd love to go and see if I was asked to do something over there, but I'm definitely not about to go knocking on doors. I have my family here," she added.

All of Turkey's delights on show

■ BY JO WALKER

ISTANBUL is a city that knows how to feed the appetite, and knows how to fuel it as well.

With main streets that seem to suffer from perpetual traffic jams, taxis and buses are an exercise in tedious frustration, so walking is the recommended mode of transport. And with so much to take in – from ancient temples to street markets – it pays to travel at a slower pace.

First stop on most tourist trails is the achingly gorgeous Hagia Sophia, and rightly so. Even the most jaded of travellers find its soaring domes, enormous Islamic medallions and light-pierced gloom a sight to behold.

Sightseers here are slack-jawed in awe and wonder. If that's the reaction of the 21st century tourist, I wondered, imagine what this place must have been to the millions who saw it before skyscrapers and 747s? Like the various here-afters it peddled, the place is still otherworldly.

A short walk away lies the famous Blue Mosque. A mere 400 years old, it's still a brash newcomer in the Turkish scheme of things, but what it lacks in antiquity it makes up for in pure elegance and a sense of vitality only a fully functioning place of worship can inspire.

If the Hagia Sophia shows the mish-mash of Istanbul's past, this place is a single-minded love note to Islamic art, culture and faith.

While Istanbul is a city that welcomes visitors, it is not yet one of those over-touristed places that become attractively packaged cari-

CULTURAL ICON: Istanbul Blue Mosque is only 400 years old – a newcomer in the Turkish scheme of things catures of themselves, a mere reflection of what foreigners think they should be.

While most of the must-dos are located on the Asian side of the Bosphorus around the Sultanahmet district, the European side has its charms too – of a more laidback, lived-in kind than its Oriental counterpart.

Our boutique hotel, the Pera Rose, has a touch of Eastern luxury with its deep leather sofas, darkwood finishes, and complimentary spa and sauna facilities – a nice distraction after long days pounding the ancient capital's pavements.

But the Pera Rose Hotel's main drawcard is its location: barely two minutes from Istiklal Avenue in the Beyoglu district, the city's all-purpose late night shopping, drinking and noshing zone.

Near to midnight it's still heaving as thousands of Turks cruise the street – some there for a leisurely window-shop, others nibbling borek, or just listening to folksy buskers strumming acoustic guitars.

Scores of ferries leave every few minutes from the Eminonu docks, and at 50p per journey, you get up close and personal with the sparkling waters of the Bosphorus.

In addition to the ubiquitous rounds of tea served in tiny glass cups, each boat features massive posters of the imposing Ataturk, founder of modern Turkey, decorated with exhortations to his fellow countrymen.

It's almost impossible to overstate the reverence in which he's held by the population here.

One stall selling wall plaques painted with iconic figures peddles pictures of the nationalist leader rubbing up against depictions of Che Guevara, Jim Morrison and Kurt Cobain.

And it's here he seems to have settled into the national consciousness – part politician, part rock star, part god.

It's a good bet he'll not be forgotten any time soon.

YOUR WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

BY RUSSELL GRANT

AQUARIUS

(Jan 21 - Feb 19)

BEING resourceful with your employer's cash brings surprise results. You could even parlay your current position into a more prestigious one. Don't be afraid to let down your guard with a lover; it's the only way to achieve the intimacy you need. Express concern for their dreams especially if they've postponed plans for the sake of yours.

TAURUS

(Apr 21 - May 21)

THIS is a good time to discuss the future with a partner. Getting engaged or planning a wedding is highly favoured. If you're already in a relationship, the two of you may decide to add to the family. Alternatively, you may decide to collaborate on a creative project. A generous bank loan or financial gift could help you buy a dream house.

LEO

(July 24 - Aug 23)

IF you're looking for new ways to save money, organise your household. Streamlining your space will give you more time to prepare. Donate any items you haven't used for over a year to charity. The more spacious your surroundings, the easier it will be for money to flow into your life. Your appeal will be an irresistible lure to a powerful admirer.

SCORPIO

(Oct 24 - Nov 22)

MAKING new social contacts is the best way to meet your needs. Seek out seasoned professionals who are effective communicators. Career matters are highly favoured this week. Seize an opportunity to make a public presentation. Your wit, charm, and good looks will make a fantastic impression on your audience.

PISCES

(Feb 20 - Mar 20)

TALKING with an expert can improve your relationship skills. Learning how to communicate your needs is half the battle in enjoying a fruitful romance. A plum work assignment could fall into your lap. Don't be surprised if an organisation offers you a prominent position after seeing your work. Getting paid to do what you love is a real possibility.

GEMINI

(May 22 - Jun 22)

AN older relative could offer to teach you a valuable skill. Take them up on it immediately, as it will result in better job opportunities. Never underestimate the importance of simple work like sewing, gardening, or carpentry. If you already have a lover, go on a romantic trip together. A change of scenery will reignite your passion for one another.

VIRGO

(Aug 24 - Sep 23)

TALKING about your problems can help you cope. Don't discount the idea of therapy. You don't need to have serious problems to benefit from such treatment. Spending time on a secret creative project can also prove fulfilling. Resist the temptation to show your efforts to others until next month. In the meantime focus on having fun.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov 23 - Dec 21)

KEEP talks with an authority figure a secret this week and your discretion will be well rewarded. You may be trusted with a confidential report so hide things away from prying eyes. If you can pull off this job, you'll be given bigger and better assignments. A love connection could occur between you and a foreigner.

ARIES

(Mar 21 - Apr 20)

YOU'RE giving more thought to your financial security. Making out a will, taking out an insurance policy, or starting a college fund for a child are among the possibilities. Even setting aside funds for a rainy day can make your job seem less odious. That's because having a safety cushion helps you take irritation with a grain of salt.

CANCER

(Jun 23 - Jul 23)

THIS week gives you a golden opportunity to negotiate new terms for a job. Being assigned to a different department or getting a promotion offer are among the possibilities. Riches could flow into your life in the form of a luxurious gift. Hiring a personal trainer or joining a gym will boost your self confidence and make you more attractive.

LIBRA

(Sep 24 - Oct 23)

WORKING behind the scenes can help you fulfil financial obligations. While it's frustrating to not get any public acclaim for this work, it's also liberating to escape the spotlight. A friendship could turn to romance with very little encouragement. You have an uncanny sense of what a love interest needs to hear to let down their guard.

CAPRICORN

(Dec 22 - Jan 20)

WORKING with a large group can expand your horizons. It's important to cooperate with people whose methods may not match yours. This will help you become more open minded and adaptable. Your sex life is starting to sizzle. There's never been a better week to schedule a rendezvous. Don't be afraid to voice your desires.

Clunes holding surgery over Doc's casebook

■ BY ANDY WELCH

"I'D ONLY seen a very rough version of the first episode, so it was nice to see the final edit," said Martin Clunes after watching the first instalment of a new run of Doc Martin.

Many actors don't get to see rough cuts of their work before the editor and director have had their way with a show, so why is Clunes different?

"Well, I'm married to the producer, you see. I get to see these things as an insider," he said.

The character of Dr Martin, albeit it in a slightly different incarnation, first appeared in 2000 film Saving Grace. Clunes played the medic again in two TV film prequels a few years later, but after the original production company went bust, the actor and his producer wife pitched a revamped Doc Martin to ITV and the rest, as they say, is history.

The show as we now know it was first screened in 2004, and told of a socially inept surgeon from London who, after developing a blood phobia, retrained as a GP and moved to a sleepy fishing village in Cornwall.

When the abrasive medic arrived in Portwenn, he immediately began upsetting the villagers and struggled to adjust to the quiet life away from the capital.

"He's wrong in every way," said Clunes of his alter ego. Wrong and utterly prejudiced, in fact.

"That's why I love it, though," he added. "The central role in most TV shows is pretty smashing and normally sorts everything out for everyone, but that's what I love about Doc Martin, he causes the problems – except when it counts, when lives are at stake and he's so

MEDICAL ASSISTANCE: Clunes's part as Doc Martin has made the character one of the country's best-loved roles drastically right. He's just so rude though."

Cornwall's scenic Port Isaac is transformed into the fictional Portwenn and has become a genuine tourist attraction as a result of the programme.

"Lots of people go there," explained Clunes. "There are signs with directions on to landmarks from the show, but that's quite unfortunate for the people who own the house which doubles as my surgery."

"Sadly, people go right up to the house and tap on the window shouting 'Is he in?' They should say, 'Of course he's not in, it's fictional!'. Now there's another sign saying, 'Don't tap on the window' or 'Get a life' or something."

"One of the appeals of the show is that it's not filmed in London. When we did William and Mary, we were 11 hours in front of the camera every day, and then an hour or more travelling either side. It's horrible, and of course, it's not real travelling, it's just sitting in a stationary car in traffic for the most part."

"When I'm staying in Port Isaac for Doc Martin, I can finish work and be at my hotel in 10 minutes."

After landing numerous roles in esteemed shows such as Inspector Morse and Jeeves and Wooster, Martin shot to fame after as the lead in Men Behaving Badly in 1992.

More recent work, including an adaptation of Goodbye, Mr Chips and the highly acclaimed William and Mary, has made Clunes one of Britain's best-loved and most recognisable actors, and a person synonymous with family entertainment.

"I'm not interested in the gritty murder dramas really," he confesses. "I've done the adult comedy with Men Behaving Badly and all that too, so I like the family stuff now."

PROPERTY NEWS

Sales of new homes suffer summer dip

LATEST figures indicate a sign of cooling off in the housing market when it comes to new homes.

The average price for August – the latest available – was £259,393. This represents a dip of 1.1 per cent over the previous month.

Despite this lower figure, the cost is still 0.3 per cent compared with the same period last year.

Market expert David Bexon said: "August has clearly shown a drop in prices as earlier interest rate rises begin to bite."

"New home buyers are rightly being more cautious before taking on a bigger financial commitment."

"However, there is still an acute shortage of homes in the UK, so demand will remain strong, especially for family homes."

"The autumn will see a period of stability as home buyers take stock of the market and wait for the next round of competitive deals from lenders and more development incentives."

He added that new home buyers were now feeling the effects of five interest rate rises which had occurred since August 2006, with those having to remortgage being faced with larger and more expensive loans to pay off.

Closed care proves a popular option for OAPs

A SHIFT in the market for homes for the elderly is influencing the housing market.

According to research, closed care communities, which provide self-contained units within the grounds of established care homes, are becoming increasingly popular.

Residents benefit from the use of the care homes' visiting and established services while retaining a level of independence.

And experts say they are fast catching the traditional trend for sheltered accommodation.

Market analyst Sarah Woods said: "Residents in closed care accommodation benefit from avoiding potential upheaval and expense of moving again should their health deteriorate."

The freehold of each such property is owned by the care home.

A monthly service charge also covers basic provisions such as upkeep of grounds and 24-hour emergency cover.

Residents are responsible for such things as TV licences, telephone bills and the usual utility bills as well as internal decoration.

RISE AND FALL: The controversial Home Improvement Packs could be of real benefit to buyers in the housing market, according to solicitor Ron Prior (above left)

Don't believe the HIP hype is hurting sales

■ BY RON PRIOR

RECENT Government announcements that Home Information Packs (or HIPs) may soon become compulsory for all housing stock will prove to be the first real test of the bold shake-up in the housing markets.

But far from a cause for concern, it should encourage Kent's buyers.

HIPs remain an issue blighted by oppositional politics and vitriolic national journalism. The people of Kent, given time, will surely see beyond the alarmist headlines and understand what HIPs can really do.

Figures released by organisations such as the Royal Institute of Chartered Surveyors and the National Association of Estate Agents do indicate a drop in the number of houses coming to market, as part of a general dip across the whole property sector.

Those same figures did not extend to London and the South East, and so to use them as causal evidence of the impact of HIPs is rather short-sighted, given recent turmoil in international money markets.

The scheme was introduced when it was to appease critics but unfortunately allowed them to blame HIPs for depressing the market. Some sellers are indeed wary of anything new, but to hide from it behind an antiquated system is not the answer. Sellers just need the confidence to back packs; the buyers are waiting.

Soon all buyers will expect a property to have a HIP with all accompanying safeguards.

What that means is that when it comes to making that all-important decision of buying a house, it can now be done in a better-informed and very transparent way.

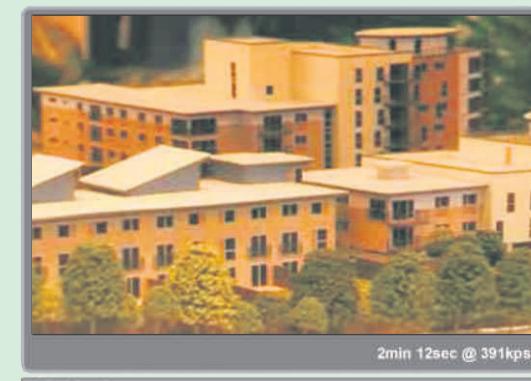

But amid the negative headlines and concerns, it seems time will be the great healer.

Only when HIPs finally become part of the national consciousness will we get the true picture.

The HIP could of course do even more by including a Home Condition Report (rather than the Government just partially extending the scheme), and committing to the full pack, which will truly revolutionise the housing market and fully inform prospective buyers.

• Ron Prior is a Home Information Packs provider and local solicitor of more than 25 years.

Buckey & Ward

Estate Agents and Residential Lettings

“The whole process of buying and selling should be as smooth and stress free as possible and we go that extra mile to achieve this”.

Buckey & Ward are Sittingbourne's longest established Estate Agency and Residential Lettings company. The business was started in 1968 on the corner of West Street and William Street by Brian Buckey and Ian Ward.

In 1995 the company changed hands and was sold to Ian Seager who runs the sales department along with Sue Melloy. The Residential Lettings Department was re-launched to take advantage of a rejuvenated lettings market, and is enjoying unpreserved success.

Ian has enjoyed dealing with property and land all over the county, from paddocks to rambling estates, from studio flats to new development sites.

Our philosophy is to treat people as we would wish to be treated, and to be straight talking and honest.

“The whole process of buying and selling should be as smooth and stress free as possible and we go that extra mile to achieve this”.

We are always interested in hearing from you – whether it be questions, comments or requests for more information.

MOTORS NEWS

Medway dealership wins top Ford award

A KENT dealer has won a top national award from the Ford Motor Company.

Dagenham Motors of Pier Road, Gillingham, and Cuxton Road, Strood, received Ford's 'Chairman's Award' for customer satisfaction.

Dagenham's general manager Chris Minter – pictured left, receiving the award from Ford regional sales director Mark Deans – said the company had earned the honour several times before, but added: "We're thrilled to have won this award. It is a direct result of the professionalism of everyone pulling together to provide the best service possible."

Dealership members were rewarded with an all expenses paid four-day trip to Monaco.

Style house goes Italian for deliveries

ITALIAN designer furniture chain Mattucci has acquired two Iveco Daily light commercial vehicles, as part of a move to bring its transport operation in-house.

The Daily 35C12 chassis cab models, styled by Italian design house Giugiaro, have high capacity Luton bodies and bear a striking burgundy livery created in-house by Mattucci.

They are based at the company's head office in Northfleet, where Mattucci marketing chief Halil Huseyin said: "We selected the Iveco Daily based on its proven reputation in the industry for durability and reliability."

Gorgeous duo top poll

FILM beauty Scarlett Johansson and the equally stunning Alfa 8C Competizione supercar topped a poll by motor show MPH '07 and the 4Car website, to find the dream car and passenger combination.

Johansson received 23 per cent of the vote, while the Alfa's victory was even more emphatic at 30 per cent.

MPH '07 is at Earls Court, London, from November 1-4, and hosted by Top Gear TV presenters Jeremy Clarkson, Richard Hammond and James May.

HANDSOME BEAST: Image is everything in the revamped E-Class, however, quality, space and effortless speed also come in handy on the open road

Mercedes star model regains all of its shine

MERCEDES showrooms are mind-boggling places nowadays.

There are models to suit everyone: mini MPVs, saloons, estates, luxury coupes, roadsters and convertibles.

But this feast of models is a far cry from how the German 'wunderfirm' built a post-war reputation on pretty much one model, now called the E-Class – the company's management level saloon and estate range.

The 'E's credentials have been simple: rugged build, space, thoughtful and practical design, easy-driving and the cachet of that three-pointed star.

The latest incarnation is particularly handsome, though it needed a facelift in 2006 to silence whispers about electrical gremlins marring the once rock solid E-Class second-hand values.

The revamp introduced some new engines too and the Mercedes lynchpin now seems to be back on form, though the market sector is tougher; Audi's latest A6 is far better than before, while BMW's 5-series might not be a looker, but still claims the 'driver's choice' title.

ROAD TEST MERCEDES E-CLASS

BY STEVE LOADER

STAR QUALITY

Driving appeal	★★★★★
Image	★★★★★
Space	★★★★★
Value	★★★★★
Running costs	★★★★★
Reliability	★★★★★
Green rating	★★★★★

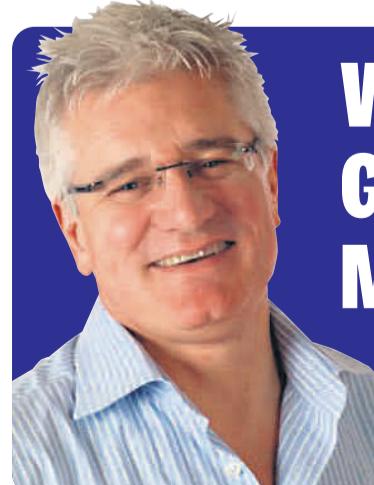

Then again, neither matches the sense of well-being in the E-Class. If you have slogged up the corporate rockface, but can now waltz into the company car park in this every morning, then you may feel it was all worth it.

That star on the bonnet adds to the warm glow as you cruise effortlessly along the motorway in an airy and classy cabin, with decent room for four to travel in great comfort plus ample boot space for luggage.

Unlike German rivals mentioned earlier, the big Merc also concentrates on delivering a fine ride, though the rear-wheel drive chassis is still balanced for quicker driving on more challenging roads.

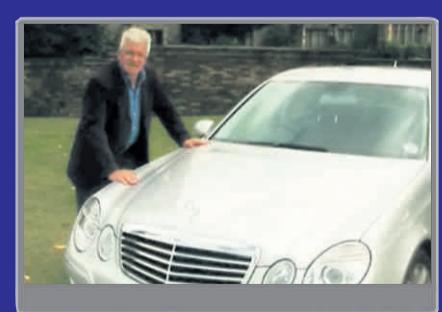

Our test car was a top of the range diesel, the E320CDI Sport fitted with a creamy seven-speed auto 'box as standard and paddle shifts on the wheel for rapid manual gear selection – the car can be surprisingly agile.

Not that it then burns the juice; Mercedes reckons it has wrung up to 26 per cent more power from the whole E-Class engine line-up without increasing fuel consumption – our 320CDI version can average nearly 40mpg.

USED CAR ROUND-UP: OUR PICK FROM A KEY SECTOR

TOYOTA YARIS

TOYOTA'S original mould-breaking supermini (pictured) was replaced last year, but the second generation car has built upon its reputation for space within eye-catching yet compact dimensions; a Yaris of any age makes a decent used buy. The original also spawned the hugely versatile Verso estate-cum-MPV. The Yaris driving experience is classy too, but the years are becoming less kind to the interior design and visual quality of the original car.

BEST-SELLING JAPANESE SUPERMINIS

SUPERMINIS were not something that Japanese carmakers used to 'do' with much style or verve. They were reliable, of course, but easily outclassed for image and style by European marques. But that changed with the original Toyota Yaris, ironically made in France for European markets. The Yaris now faces its stiffest competition from fellow Japanese manufacturers in the form of the quirky looking yet robust Nissan Micra and Mitsubishi Colt. All three make a statement but are also practical and reliable.

NISSAN MICRA

BORING Nissan? Well, the Micra has blown that myth apart. This is the supermini that says you don't have to conform to style in order to be space-efficient and you don't have to carry a French badge to be chic – although Renault now owns Nissan. The Micra turns heads and looks 'right' in three or five-door form. It's affordable and reliable, available with excellent diesels and marketed with some stylish trim in the dearer versions.

MITSUBISHI COLT

THIS stylish little car has been a lifeline for Mitsubishi dealerships, starved so long of decent mainstream car models. It is offered in two forms: an MPV-style five-door with masses of space and a higher driving position, or a lower-slung and pugnacious sporting three-door. The CZT three-door hot hatch version is possibly best in class for the money, but the whole range delivers a good drive. Interiors are refreshing and almost Scandinavian in design.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

MEP Bowles backs new import initiative

KENT MEP Sharon Bowles, has given her support to the Europe-wide 'Made In' campaign, which works for greater transparency and consumer protection by calling for goods imported into the EU to display the country in which they were made.

The Liberal Democrat said: "This campaign is about enabling consumers to make an informed choice about the goods they buy. It's also about encouraging manufacturers and retailers to be more responsible and transparent about where they source their products from.

"The initiative is a positive development as it will allow British consumers to make a better judgement about the environmental impact of the goods that they buy."

Lord Coe tells firms how to go for gold

THE man who spearheaded the successful campaign to host the 2012 Olympic Games in London, will be Maidstone on Friday.

Former Olympic gold medal-winning runner Sebastian Coe is hosting a breakfast networking session at the Ramada Hotel just off the M20.

Lord Coe will discuss the benefits staging the Games can bring to local businesses, at the newly refurbished Heart of Kent Suite.

The Breakfast with Sebastian Coe event is billed as a key networking opportunity and is organised by the Kent Invicta Chamber of Commerce.

It runs from 8-9am with full English breakfast included in the £19.95 cost. Details at www.kentinvictachamber.co.uk.

Women helped to take the business plunge

BRIDGING THE GENERATION GAP: Both younger and older members of staff are impressed with the qualities their colleagues bring to the workplace

Research debunks age-old work myths

FORTY per cent of older workers believe their younger colleagues teach them skills they previously did not have, according to a study of older and younger workers commissioned by Jobcentre Plus, while one third of younger workers believe older workers are more likely to work anti-social hours than colleagues their own age.

The findings, which come as the UK celebrates the first anniversary of the Employment Equality (Age) Regulations 2006, lift the lid on the benefits for both employers and individuals of employing a diverse workforce.

Across the board in the South East, the results show that working in a mixed-aged workforce is important for both older (61 per cent) and younger (63 per cent) UK workers with all recognising the benefits of working with people of mixed ages.

■ BY LAUREN MUMFORD

Lesley Strathie, chief executive of Jobcentre Plus, said: "The research shows that having the right balance of age and skills can bring numerous benefits to establishing a complete workforce for both employers and employees.

"Both older and younger workers appreciate and learn from the qualities each brings to the workplace. It's not always easy to get the mix right."

Perhaps unsurprisingly, the research shows the first and foremost quality younger workers in the South East think their older colleagues bring is experience (92 per cent) whilst reliability (65 per cent) and understanding (76 per cent) also featured highly.

Comparatively, nearly two thirds of older workers are impressed by their younger co-workers ability to learn quickly, be flexible (66 per cent) and give them energy (57 per cent).

Public sector and financial services workers show a higher level of confidence in their younger colleagues, although overall reliability appears to be an area younger workers need to improve – only a quarter of older workers believed their younger co-workers to be reliable.

One factor which was consistent across both age groups was the main reason they come to work – money, although this was more prevalent amongst younger rather than older people (78 per cent compared to 47 per cent).

And contrary to popular belief, only three per cent of younger workers stated that they come to work to meet new people, while 25 per cent of older workers confirmed that they work for personal satisfaction.

City's Fittall scores again

CANTERBURY City stayed top of the league with a 1-0 win over Otford United on Saturday.

Another good crowd at Bridge Recreation Ground saw Wayne Fittall score his 11th goal in five games as City moved three points clear in the British Energy Division 2 East.

Otford came into the game as one of the league's in-form sides after two consecutive wins and the joint meanest defence, but Fittall's strike made it four wins out of five for City.

The two sides meet again this Saturday, with Fittall looking to continue his extraordinary run.

A testing time for Crusaders

THE Body and Mind Kent Crusaders began their competitive season with a 73-40 home win over the Sevenoaks Suns in the National Cup on Saturday.

The Crusaders play two divisions above the Suns and their greater experience was the key to the match.

Steve Findley top scored with 17 points as the hosts used the game to test out different tactics.

Coach Mads Olesen is pleased with the way his squad are shaping up, but knows there is still a lot of work to do before the league season begins.

He said: "We have a lot of new players, but we are making big strides at the moment. We still have a long way to go, but I am sure we will get there and the win tonight was very encouraging."

The Crusaders take on the Leicester Warriors this Saturday in the first game in the Patron's Cup. Tip-off at the Body and Mind Leisure Centre is 7.30pm.

GOING STRONG: Hayley Brown (above) had a fine game against Clifton Ladies, scoring one goal and assisting her England colleague Cathy Gilliat-Smith (right) to score the winner

Gilliat-Smith continues Ladies' winning start

CANTERBURY were made to work hard by newly promoted Clifton, but kept their winning start to the season going thanks to a goal from Cathy Gilliat-Smith.

In a similar pattern to the previous week's win against Poynton, Canterbury took the lead, but were unable to kill the game off.

With the restrictions on players involved in last month's international matches lifted, coach Simon Triggs welcomed back Mel Clewlow and Gilliat-Smith. Clewlow, who is also helping to coach the side this season, was pleased with the result.

She said: "We were stunned and shocked to give away our lead. They were playing better than us, but with the quality we have we can always score a goal and fortunately we did."

"We played better than last week so from my point of view as a coach that is something you always look for."

"Last season we didn't get six points away from home the whole season and still finished third. If we can keep our home form, which is usually very good, we will be right up there come the end of the season."

Clifton were playing their first home game since promotion and put Canterbury under pressure in the opening 15 minutes.

The visitors gradually came into the game and scored two goals in as many minutes before half-time.

Clewlow grabbed the first from a penalty corner and 60 seconds later her England colleague Hayley Brown doubled the lead.

Canterbury were unable to consolidate their advantage and Clifton got back in the game right after half-time with a goal from Carys Hopkins.

The hosts had the momentum and with 15 minutes to go Elizabeth Sinton spectacularly volleyed home the equaliser.

Canterbury were second best, but their experience showed and they pinched the winner with 11 minutes to go when Gilliat-Smith finished off after good work from Hayley Brown.

The team's stars will again be available for Saturday's game against Olton and West Warwick.

Clewlow knows the team need to make the most of this period before the quintet of international players join up with the Great Britain squad to begin their Olympic preparations.

She said: "We definitely need to take these points when everyone is available. It is quite difficult in terms of training and continuity to lose the players, but it is a credit to the club that they have so many players involved with Great Britain."

"It is giving younger players at the club a chance, which will improve them and mean we are stronger in the long term, which can only be a good thing for Canterbury."

The side will start as hot favourites against Olton, who have lost their first two games. The game starts at Polo Farm at 11.45am.

Bay weather the storm to earn replay in FA Cup

GOAL: Rhys Lawson makes the score 1-1

HERNE Bay can cause an FA Cup upset tonight as they host a replay against Hayes & Yeading United from the Blue Square South League after Saturday's pulsating draw.

Three divisions and 56 league places separate the two sides, but Bay were not overawed and might have won the game.

Manager Jason Lillis was delighted with the effort the players put in against their lofty opposition. He said: "It is definitely the best result I have had as a manager. It was a really good game to watch, they played as we expected them to and had a lot of possession, but we battled well."

Bay had a nightmare start as

FOOTBALL

Hayes & Yeading United 2 Herne Bay 2

Staforde Palmer gave the home side the lead after just three minutes. United dominated the first half, but a mixture of stout defending and wayward finishing kept the score 1-0 at half-time.

The visitors looked more composed after the break and within five minutes were level when Nathan Eastwood beat his man and crossed for Rhys Lawson to head home.

The hosts restored their lead soon afterwards, but Bay fought back and Roy Guiver scored from a corner on 63 minutes.

Bay almost won the tie in the latter stages, but substitute Ben Brown saw his shot cannon back off the crossbar to safety.

A draw was a fair result and Lillis knows Bay have a real chance of progressing tonight.

He said: "To go through we have probably got to play even better than we did on Saturday because the job is only half done."

"They are not going to be used to playing at grounds like ours, so hopefully everyone in Herne Bay will turn out and make it a night to remember."

■ BY TOM HOWARD

Canterbury 37 Clifton 11

CANTERBURY won their fifth straight league game with a professional performance to move up to third in the table.

Clifton, who had only won once this season, began brightly and took the lead with a try from their captain Tom Lambert.

The score stirred the hosts into a response and they were ahead by the break. Converted tries from Mike Melford and Neil Meyer, who deservedly won the man of the match award for an excellent display at number eight, along with a penalty from Sam Rasch edged Canterbury 17-11 up by half-time.

The home side controlled long spells of the match without making the most of their dominance. Clifton had a lively back division, but all too often they were put under pressure by Canterbury's powerful forwards.

Sam Rasch kept the score ticking over and made the game safe, but it looked like Canterbury would miss out on a valuable bonus point.

As the game entered its final stages, Blair Morris and Rasch finally made the team's supremacy count by running over for tries which secured their third bonus point in five games.

The performance was an improvement on the previous week's win at Rosslyn Park, but it was workmanlike rather than spectacular and with more ruthlessness the margin of victory might have been greater.

The win set up a mouth-watering game this Saturday when league leaders London Scottish bring their 100 per cent record to Canterbury.

Scottish were promoted last season and virtually recruited a new side over the summer, but they are already establishing themselves as one of the division's teams to beat.

Kick-off at Merton Lane is 3pm.

the deadlock with his second in as many games, only for the Casuals to level four minutes later.

With time running out Denly bagged the winner with his fourth goal of the season to take the points. It ensured Seager preserved his personal record of never losing more than two consecutive games as a manager.

He said: 'I'm proud of the players because they had the right attitude.'

'Playing at this level has come as a bit of an eye-opener so far but they have reacted in the right way and the spirit in the squad is good.'

yourcanterbury SPORT IN BRIEF

Sear to step down from Kent job in November

KENT'S cricket development manager David Sear will leave his post on November 2, the club's cricket board announced last week.

Sear played a major role in increasing the profile of the sport in Kent, particularly in women's and girls' cricket.

Sear said: "It has been a great privilege to develop cricket in the county. I have really enjoyed working with the passionate cricket people of Kent and I am looking forward to the new challenges that lie ahead."

Free weekly sessions to help between the sticks

YOUNG goalkeepers in Canterbury can now improve their skills with free weekly coaching sessions.

Just 4 Keepers goalkeeping schools, which also run training classes in Dover and Thanet, have opened a new venue at Canterbury High School in Knight Avenue.

Sessions cover all aspects of the game including communication and technique.

Coaches are fully qualified and police checked. To book call coach Andy Woodcock on 01843 604942 or 07976 587101.

Tense final sees academy side win Twenty20 cup

ST LAWRENCE and Highland Court cricket club won the Upfront Cricket Academy Twenty20 Cup on Monday after beating Buckinghamshire side, Asian Society Club.

The final was a closely contested match with St Lawrence and Highland's academy side restricting Asian Society to just 123 runs. In a tense finish, St Lawrence and Highland left it late, winning the match with just three balls to spare.

The Canterbury side were presented with a cheque for £1,000 and the winner's trophy.

Training workshop invite for 14-year-old athlete

TALENTED multi-event athlete Adam Asher has been invited to attend the Kent Athletics Association's training workshops this winter.

Earlier this month the 14-year-old, from Birchington-on-Sea, won the Under-15 Relay Championships in Bromley. He also took the county's pentathlon competition title in Erith, winning by 145 points.

The winter training will help Asher prepare for next season's Under-17 Octathlon Championships.
